HEAD OF THE KING’S SCHOOL, PARRAMATTA

The King’s School Parramatta is Australia’s oldest independent school for boys. Situated on 300 acres of beautiful grounds, the School provides comprehensive education in a Christian setting for more than 1600 Pre-K to Year 12 students, including significant boarding enrolments.

With the retirement of Dr Timothy Hawkes OAM at the end of 2016 after 19 years of dynamic leadership, the School Council warmly invites applications from those interested in becoming the School’s 20th Head, effective 1 January 2017.

The successful applicant will be a distinguished educator committed to academic excellence, the provision of a well-rounded education of the highest standard, advancing Christian understanding, developing leadership qualities in the boys and with a demonstrated track record in educational administration. The new Head must also be a visionary, innovative leader and a Christian role model for staff and boys, with the capacity to motivate and inspire all members of the School community.

The position offers the successful candidate the opportunity to lead a pre-eminent boys’ school.
